

The Happiness Book Tour

We're quickly approaching the summer of 2021 here in the U.S. While the season this year isn't as stressful as it was in 2020, it isn't completely worry-free. Honestly, my bucket isn't feeling quite full. While I'm looking forward to being outdoors and feeling the wind on my face, nothing fills my bucket more than spending time with my family and friends—camping, fishing, barbecues, and bonfires. Even with lingering COVID protocols still in place, I am hopeful because restrictions are starting to lift. We want YOU to have a full bucket, too, knowing you can plan and enjoy your favorite summer activities.

Author Carol McCloud and her husband, Jack, are filling their buckets this summer by hitting the open road. Beginning May 15, they're embarking on a ten-week journey across the U.S. on a "Happiness Book Tour."

While there are no planned bookstore visits or speaking engagements, Carol is excited to teach people of all ages about the happiness rules of bucket filling and how more kindness leads to happiness. Their RV will be loaded with a stash of bucketfilling books and swag to give away to everyone they meet. Keep an eye out for their RV as they travel.

We're also taking the tour virtual! As the Happiness Book Tour RV makes its way across the U.S., our team will also be hosting virtual events through our website and on social media. We'll be posting tour updates and different ways you can enter to win your own bucketfilling books and swag. Check out the tour website at HappinessBookTour.com or @BucketFillers1 on your favorite social channels.

We're encouraged to head into summer because better days are coming. We hope you are, too!

To being happy,

Sandy
